The Nordic Centre of Excellence ‘Justice through Education in the Nordic Countries’

SUMMER SCHOOL 2015

“A Nordic model?”

The Nordic Model has traditionally referred to a society built on social democracy and the welfare state. For education it meant a free and comprehensive education as well as equal access to higher education for all. Is there a Nordic model in education today and in that case what does it mean and how has it changed over the years? What is its importance in a global perspective? Can it be regarded as exemplary for others? In this summer school doctoral students are invited to examine critically different sides of the so-called Nordic model.

The summer school is taking place from 17 to 21 August in Voksenåsen cultural and conference centre in Oslo. The first day of the summer school, Monday 17 August, is an “open day” when everyone interested is welcome to attend. Please register for the open day by Thursday 13 August through the following link: https://elomake.helsinki.fi/lomakkeet/62220/lomake.html

OPEN DAY, Monday 17 August

09:30 Welcome and introduction
   Gunilla Holm

10:00-12:00 Keynote: “Economic justice under the Northern light?”
   Professor Kalle Moene, Centre of studies of Equality, Social Organization and Performance in the Nordic countries (ESOP)
   Discussants: Lisbeth Lundahl, Jaakko Kauko, Ingólfur Ásgeir Jóhannesson
   Chair: Joron Pihl

12:00-13:00 Lunch

13:00-15:00 Keynote: “Quality Teaching and Teacher Education: A Practice-Based Approach”
   Professor Pam Grossman, Graduate School of Education, University of Pennsylvania
   Discussants: Jón Torfi Jónasson, Joron Pihl, Paola Valero
   Chair: Kirsti Klette

15:00-15:30 Coffee break

15:30-17:00 Poster session