CLIMATE UNIVERSITY

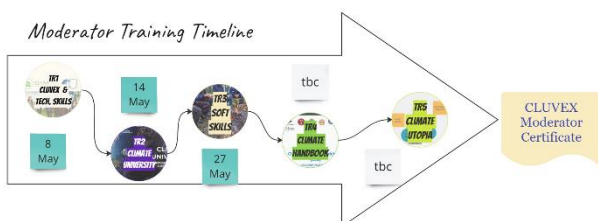

Call for Moderators – Opportunity for work training and credits

The University of Helsinki coordinates EU ERASMUS+ virtual exchange, CLUVEX project (2023-2027) for organizing interactive and remote workshops of one week length on Climate Change and Sustainability Sciences topics. The virtual exchanges organized by the University of Helsinki are currently the largest EU virtual exchange project in their field and offer a unique opportunity to learn about remote working and teaching in an international environment. Virtual exchanges are part of Climate University (University of Helsinki).

CLUVEX workshop weeks consist on joint sessions for all 500 students from European and Eastern European universities (Finland, Denmark, Ukraine, Armenia), and the key group work and interactions takes place in small groups of 10 students with one moderator each. The moderator plays a central role as a supporter of the small group interaction, interdisciplinary and respectful discussions and learning. Training is well suited for e.g. for teacher training work placement.

CLUVEX first interactive virtual week is in October 14-18, 2024

Moderator training consists of different remote short sessions (1h each) on topics such as virtual exchange concept, CLUVEX week program and exercises, technical and soft skills useful remote and international network

Moderators will get a certificate with the acquired skills, and 3-5

Credits from the University of Helsinki.
