Asian Ethnicity

Editor: Professor Chih-yu Shih, National Taiwan University, Taiwan

Volume 13, 3 issues per year

In the 21st century ethnic issues have assumed importance in many parts of the world. Until recently, questions of Asian ethnicity and identity have been treated in a balkanized fashion, with anthropologists, economists, historians, political scientists, sociologists and others publishing their studies in single-discipline journals. Asian Ethnicity provides a cross-disciplinary, international venue for the publication of well-researched articles about ethnic groups and ethnic relations in the half of the world where questions of ethnicity now loom largest.

EthnoPolitics

JOURNAL OF THE SPECIALIST GROUP ON ETHNOPOLITICS AND THE ASSOCIATION FOR THE STUDY OF NATIONALITIES

Editors: Stefan Wolff, University of Birmingham, UK

Karl Cordell, University of Plymouth, UK

Volume 11, 4 issues per year

Ethnopolitics maintains a fair balance between theoretical analyses and case studies both of comparative as well as singular nature, covering all geographic areas. The major focus is on the analysis, management, settlement, and prevention of ethnic conflicts, on minority rights, group identity, the intersection of identity group formations and politics, on minority and majority nationalisms in the context of transitions to democracy, and on the security and stability of states and regions as they are affected by any of the above issues. Particular attention is also devoted to the growing importance of the international dimension of ethnopolitics, including diplomatic and military interventions, and the increasing impact of globalisation on ethnic identities and their political expressions.

Gender, Place and Culture

A Journal of Feminist Geography

Listed in the Thomson Reuters Social Sciences Citation Index®

Editor: Robyn Longhurst, University of Waikato, New Zealand

Volume 19, 6 issues per year

The aim of Gender, Place and Culture is to provide a forum for debate in human geography and related disciplines on theoretically-informed research concerned with gender issues. It also seeks to highlight the significance of such research for feminism and women's studies. The editors seek articles based on primary research that address: the particularities and intersections of gender, race, ethnicity, age, (dis)ability, sexuality, class, culture and place; feminist, anti-racist, critical and radical geographies of space, place, nature and the environment; feminist geographies of difference, resistance, marginality and/or spatial negotiation; and, critical methodology.

Geopolitics

Listed in the Thomson Reuters Social Sciences Citation Index®

Editors: David Newman, Ben Gurion University of the Negev, Israel

Simon Dalby, Carleton University, Canada

Volume 17, 4 issues per year

The study of geopolitics has undergone a major renaissance during the past decade. Addressing a gap in the published periodical literature, this journal seeks to explore the theoretical implications of contemporary geopolitics and geopolitical change with particular reference to territorial problems and issues of state sovereignty. Multidisciplinary in its scope, Geopolitics includes all aspects of the social sciences with particular emphasis on political geography, international relations, the territorial aspects of political science and international law. The journal seeks to maintain a healthy balance between systemic and regional analysis.

International Journal of African Renaissance Studies

Multi-, Inter and Transdisciplinarity

CO-PUBLISHED WITH UNISA PRESS

Editor: Shadrack B. O. Gutto, University of South Africa

Volume 7, 2 issues per year

The International Journal of African Renaissance Studies aims to create a repository of scholarly work that represents high academic standards yet offers real solutions to Africa's challenges. In this way, we are committed to Africa's rebirth and re-positioning. A fundamental belief is that the transformation of Africa and Africans requires changes in the historically constructed global order. Africa's resources and heritages must be harnessed and strategically channelled to inform, map and fuel a conscious drive to realise the African Renaissance – starting from today. The International Journal of African Renaissance Studies is accredited with the South African Department of Education.

Interventions

International Journal of Postcolonial Studies

Listed in the Thomson Reuters Social Sciences and Arts & Humanities Citation Indices®

Editor: Robert Young, New York University, USA

Volume 14, 4 issues per year

Interventions focuses on the following aspects of postcolonial research, theory and politics:

- The histories of imperialism and colonialism
- The role of culture (academic, literary and popular) in the operation of imperialism and in the formations of national resistance
- Liberation struggles, past and ongoing
- The role of religion and culture in new nationalisms
- The contemporary politics of identity; race and ethnicity; gender and sexuality
- The economics of neo-colonialism
- Diaspora and migrancy
- Indigenous fourth-world cultures
- The connections between colonialism and modernity, postcolonialism and postmodernism
- Questions of postcolonial literatures
- Languages and translation

The assumption guiding the editorial policy is that a journal, while representing a disciplinary field, can also make effective interventions within it - interrogating, shaping and extending it without seeking to dictate.

Journal of Ethnicity in Criminal Justice

THE OFFICIAL JOURNAL OF THE MINORITIES & WOMEN SECTION OF THE ACADEMY OF CRIMINAL JUSTICE SCIENCES

Editor: Dr Janice Joseph, Richard Stockton College of New Jersey, USA

Volume 10, 4 issues per year

The Journal of Ethnicity in Criminal Justice explores the prejudice that currently affects our judicial system, our courts, our prisons, and our neighborhoods all around the world. This unique multidisciplinary journal is the only publication that focuses exclusively on crime, criminal justice, and ethnicity/race. Here you'll find insightful commentaries, position papers, and examinations of new and existing legislation by scholars and professionals committed to the study of ethnicity and criminal justice.

www.tandfonline.com/WECJ

Journal of Human Rights

Editor: Richard P. Hiskes, University of Connecticut, USA

Volume 11, 4 issues per year

The Journal of Human Rights serves as an arena for the public discussion and scholarly analysis of human rights, broadly conceived. It seeks to broaden the study of human rights by fostering the critical re-examination of existing approaches to human rights, as well as to develop new perspectives on the theory and practice of human rights. The journal provides the opportunity for the critical examination of the human rights community and of the different visions of human rights and different practical strategies which exist within that community. The editor welcomes papers from scholars and disciplines traditionally associated with the study of human rights, as well as papers from those in other disciplines or fields of inquiry which have traditionally been underrepresented in the field of human rights. The Journal of Human Rights is committed to theoretical and ideological diversity in the study of human rights.

Journal of Muslim Minority Affairs

OFFICIAL JOURNAL OF THE INSTITUTE OF MUSLIM MINORITY AFFAIRS

Editor: Saleha S. Mahmood, Institute of Muslim Minority Affairs, UK

Volume 32, 4 issues per year

Journal of Muslim Minority Affairs provides a forum for frank but responsible discussion of issues relating to the life of Muslims in non-Muslim societies. The journal has become increasingly influential as the subject of Muslim minorities has acquired added significance. About 500 million Muslims, fully one third of the world Muslim population of 1.5 billion, live as minorities in 149 countries around the globe. Even as minorities they form significant communities within their countries of residence. What kind of life do they live? What are their social, political and economic problems? How do they perceive their strengths and weakness? What above all, is their future in Islam and in the communities of their residence? The journal explores these and similar questions from the Muslim and international point of view in a serious and responsible manner.

Language & Intercultural Communication

Listed in the Thomson Reuters Social Sciences Citation Index®

Editors: Malcolm MacDonald, University of Warwick, UK

John O'Regan, Institute of Education, University of London, UK

Volume 12, 4 issues per year

Language & Intercultural Communication promotes an interdisciplinary understanding of the interplay between language and intercultural communication. It therefore welcomes research into intercultural communication, particularly where it explores the importance of linguistic aspects; and research into language, especially the learning of foreign languages, where it explores the importance of intercultural perspectives. The journal is alert to the implications for education, especially higher education, and for language learning and teaching. It is also receptive to research on the frontiers between languages and cultures, and on the implications of linguistic and intercultural issues for the world of work.

Latin American and Caribbean Ethnic Studies

Editor: Leon Zamosc, University of California, USA

Volume 7, 3 issues per year

Latin American and Caribbean Ethnic Studies is a cross-disciplinary venue for quality research on ethnicity, race relations, and indigenous peoples. It is open to case studies, comparative analysis and theoretical contributions that reflect innovative and critical perspectives, focused on any country or countries in Latin America and the Caribbean, written by authors from anywhere in the world. In a context in which ethnic issues are becoming increasingly important throughout the region, we are seeing the rapid expansion of a considerable corpus of work on their social, political, and cultural implications. The aim of the Journal is to play a constructive role in the consolidation of this new field of studies and in the configuration of its contours as an intellectual enterprise.

Mobilities

Listed in the Thomson Reuters Social Sciences Citation Index®

Editors: Professor Kevin Hannam, University of Sunderland, UK

Professor Mimi Sheller, Drexel University, USA

Professor John Urry, Lancaster University, UK

Volume 7, 4 issues per year

Mobilities examines both the large-scale movements of people, objects, capital, and information across the world, as well as more local processes of daily transportation, movement through public and private spaces, and the travel of material things in everyday life. Recent developments in transportation and communications infrastructures, along with new social and cultural practices of mobility, present new challenges for the coordination and governance of mobilities and for the protection of mobility rights and access. This has elicited many new research methods and theories relevant for understanding the connections between diverse mobilities and immobilities.

Multicultural Perspectives

OFFICIAL JOURNAL OF THE NATIONAL ASSOCIATION FOR MULTICULTURAL EDUCATION

Editor: Penelope L. Lisi, Central Connecticut State University, USA

Volume 14, 4 issues per year

This publication promotes the philosophy of social justice, equity, and inclusion. It celebrates cultural and ethnic diversity as a national strength that enriches the fabric of society. The journal encourages a range of material from academic to personal perspectives; poetry and art; articles of an academic nature illuminating the discussion of cultural pluralism and inclusion; articles and position papers reflecting a variety of disciplines; and reviews of film, art, and music that address or embody multicultural forms.

www.tandfonline.com/HMCP

National Identities

Editors: Peter Catterall, University of London, UK

David Kaplan, Kent State University, USA

Elfie Rembold, Social Science Research Centre Berlin, Germany

Volume 14, 4 issues per year

National Identities explores the formation and expression of national identity from antiquity to the present day. It examines the role in forging identity of cultural (language, architecture, music, gender, religion, the media, sport, encounters with 'the other' etc.) and political (state forms, wars, boundaries) factors, by examining how these have been shaped and changed over time. The historical significance of 'nation' in political and cultural terms is considered in relationship to other important and in some cases countervailing forms of identity such as religion, region, tribe or class. The focus is on identity, rather than on contingent political forms that may express it.

www.tandfonline.com/CNID

Nationalism and Ethnic Politics

Editor: Adrian Guelke, Queen's University, Belfast

Volume 18, 4 issues per year

Nationalism and Ethnic Politics explores the varied political aspects of nationalism and ethnicity in order to develop more constructive inter-group relations. The journal publishes case studies and comparative and theoretical analyses. It deals with pluralism, ethno-nationalism, irredentism, separatism, and related phenomena, and examines processes and theories of ethnic identity formation, mobilization, conflict and accommodation in the context of political development and 'nation-building'. The journal compares and contrasts state and community claims, and deals with such factors as citizenship, race, religion, economic development, immigration, language, and the international environment.

Patterns of Prejudice

Listed in the Thomson Reuters Social Sciences Citation Index®

Editors: David Cesarani, University of London, UK

Tony Kushner, University of Southampton, UK

Barbara Rosenbaum, University of Southampton, UK

Volume 46, 5 issues per year

Patterns of Prejudice provides a forum for exploring the historical roots and contemporary varieties of social exclusion and the demonization or stigmatisation of the Other. It probes the language and construction of 'race', nation, colour, and ethnicity, as well as the linkages between these categories. It encourages discussion of issues at the top of the public policy agenda, such as asylum, immigration, hate crimes and citizenship. As none of these issues are confined to any one region, Patterns of Prejudice maintains a global optic, at the same time as scrutinizing intensely the history and development of intolerance and chauvinism in the United States and Europe, both East and West.

www.tandfonline.co.uk/RPOP

Postcolonial Studies

JOURNAL OF THE INSTITUTE OF POSTCOLONIAL STUDIES

Managing Editor: David L Martin, The Institute of Postcolonial Studies, Australia

Volume 15, 4 issues per year

Postcolonial Studies is the first journal specifically aimed at publishing work which explores the various facets—textual, figural, spatial, historical, political and economic—of the colonial encounter, and the ways in which this encounter shaped the West and non-West alike.

Postcolonial Studies does not confine its attentions to any single place, region or discipline. It publishes original and challenging contributions from all over the world, informed by a variety of theoretical perspectives, including postmodernism, marxism, feminism and queer theory. Its aim is to generate a productive dialogue and exchange between theorists and writers in disparate locations.

Race, Ethnicity and Education

Listed in the Thomson Reuters Social Sciences Citation Index®

Editor: David Gillborn, Institute of Education, University of London, UK

Volume 15, 5 issues per year

Race Ethnicity and Education (REE) is the leading peer-reviewed journal on racism and race inequality in education. REE provides a focal point for international scholarship, research and debate. It publishes original and challenging research which explores the dynamics of race, racism and ethnicity in education policy, theory and practice. The journal has quickly established itself as essential reading for those working in this field and especially welcomes writing which addresses the interconnections between race, ethnicity and multiple forms of oppression including class, gender, sexuality and disability. All articles are independently refereed and the journal is supported by a distinguished international editorial panel.

Supported by the AERA Critical Examination of Race, Ethnicity, Class and Gender in Education Special Interest Group and the BERA 'ace' Ethnicity and Education Special Interest Group.

Social Identities

Journal for the Study of Race, Nation and Culture

Editors: Pal Ahluwalia, University of South Australia, Australia

Toby Miller, University of California, USA

Volume 18, 6 issues per year

Recent years have witnessed considerable worldwide changes concerning social identities such as race, nation and ethnicity, as well as the emergence of new forms of racism and nationalism as discriminatory exclusions. Social Identities aims to furnish an interdisciplinary and international focal point for theorizing issues at the interface of social identities.

The journal is especially concerned to address these issues in the context of the transforming political economies and cultures of postmodern and postcolonial conditions. Social Identities is intended as a forum for contesting ideas and debates concerning the formations of, and transformations in, socially significant identities, their attendant forms of material exclusion and power, as well as the political and cultural possibilities opened up by these identifications.

Social Movement Studies

Journal of Social, Cultural and Political Protest

Editors: Graeme Hayes, Aston University, UK

Nick Crossley, University of Manchester, UK

Brian Doherty, Keele University, UK

Kevin Gillan, University of Manchester, UK (Reviews)

John Krinsky, City College of New York, USA

Jenny Pickerill, University of Leicester, UK (Profiles)

Volume 11, 4 issues per year

Social Movement Studies is an international and inter-disciplinary journal providing a forum for academic debate and analysis of extra-parliamentary political, cultural and social movements throughout the world. Social Movement Studies has a broad, interdisciplinary approach designed to accommodate papers engaging with any theoretical school and which study the origins, development, organisation, values, context and impact of historical and contemporary movements active in all parts of the world. We understand our inter-disciplinary approach to include both contributions that engage with particular schools of thought relevant to social movements and popular protest and contributions that extend across disciplinary boundaries.

South Asian Diaspora

Editor: Ajaya K. Sahoo, University of Hyderabad, India

Volume 4, 2 issues per year

The South Asian diaspora, shaped by dispersions of people, goods, ideas and beliefs that flowed from and through the Indian Subcontinent, is currently one of the world's largest diasporas. India, Pakistan, Bangladesh, Nepal, Sri Lanka, Bhutan and the Maldives all anchor a sense of home for people who have moved outside the region through the centuries. These territories evoke emotional, social, political, economic, cultural and literary affiliations as well, which find expression in multiple ways. The diaspora is also marked by struggles over meanings and tensions both amongst the diasporics and with people in the countries where the diasporics now inhabit. In South Asian Diaspora we aim to explore some of the issues that the South Asian diaspora presents for the contemporary world.

Wasafiri

Listed in the Thomson Reuters Arts & Humanities Citation Index®

Editor: Susheila Nasta, Open University, UK

Volume 27, 4 issues per year

Since the first issue was published in 1984, Wasafiri has always opened minds and crossed literary worlds. The magazine remains key in mapping new literary landscapes and offering the best of contemporary international writing today, consistently featuring Britain's diverse cultural heritage whilst also highlighting the vast range of worldwide diasporic and migrant literature. 'Wasafiri', the Kiswahili word for travellers, captures our ethos: to travel the world via the word to extend and challenge the established boundaries of literary culture.
